

Inspiring speakers shared their crossed visions on the future of light festivals during LLFF 2022 ✨

The two-day event attracted around 150 participants from 20 countries with 30 cities and light festivals officially represented. This diverse audience of city representatives, light festival organisers, artists and students added to the event's vibrant exchange on the possibilities and challenges of light festivals. Thanks again to all the participants! Read through the Lyon Light Festival Forum highlights >>

Beacon of Hope in the press!

In the LUCI network, we are proud to have followed along the co-creation process of the light artwork by Craig Morrison with 3 pioneering cities: City of Jyväskylä, City of Lyon, and GLOW Eindhoven.

This really shows the power of international cooperation when it is activated by passionate, hard working, creative and fun people! This is perhaps one of the potential futures for light festivals, to be more sustainable: internationally cooperative, locally participative, “made by people for people”, low consumption, circular and inclusive in its conception.
